

Losing Revenue? Can't meet customer demand?

Is quality suffering? Unengaged workforce?

Is your company missing the competitive advantage?

Lean Enterprise Transformation can position your business as the premier provider in your market. How? By allowing your customers to define the value you offer and engaging everyone in your organization to focus on delivering that value through a culture of problem solving and the relentless elimination of waste.

This isn't another flavor of the month business trend. Lean Enterprise Transformation is a proven approach that has propelled Toyota as the world's leading auto maker, and this philosophy is working in dozens of other leading industries as well. Let Incito Consulting Group show you how you can learn to implement it in your organization.

When you team with Incito, you'll learn from experts who have an average of 20 years of hands-on Lean Enterprise experience. With that kind of expertise to draw from, we offer a variety of Lean Enterprise solutions:

- Lean Enterprise Transformation is a growth strategy. Eliminate waste in all aspects of your business. Engage all facets of the organization in change and growth. Align your company's objectives and priorities through all levels, from product development, sales, scheduling, and operations to the supply chain and even to your customers.
- The Production Preparation Process (3P) is a strategic focus on eliminating waste through product, process, and service design.
- The Incito Lean Supply Chain Strategy bridges the gap between customer and supplier, enabling the entire supply chain to produce or provide what and how much is needed, when it is needed, and where it is needed.
- The Incito Lean Learning Institute offers a range of insightful, inspiring, and interactive workshops exploring the knowledge and strategic philosophy required to drive Lean Enterprise Transformation across your organization.

Whichever option you choose, you can measure the return on your investment in market share, product cycle time, and reduced waste.

Imagine the possibilities!
